

“None of us,
including me, ever do great things. But we can all do small things, with great love, and together we can do something wonderful.”

Mother Teresa
Saint
(1910-1997)

There is just so much going on. So much going on in our nation. So much going on in the nations of our world. So much going on in our culture. So much going on in our cities. So much going on in our hospitals, clinics and healthcare ministries. There is, indeed, just so much going on in your own lives –at work and, perhaps, at home. It can seem so... perhaps just so overwhelming?

Recall back when you were in school. At the beginning of the class your teacher would give you all the expectations of the class. The rules, the schedule, the syllabus and, of course, all the assignments that would be due. On that first day, it seemed so much. We might have wanted to cry out and say “we will never get all that done”. But, as the semester rolled on, it seemed more manageable as, slowly, one assignment at a time, we checked things off our class “to-do” list. Instead of doing everything all at once, we did one small item at a time.

So, too, with us. Yes, there is a lot going on. But, perhaps, we can ask ourselves – “what can I, in my own little corner of the world, do”? I may not be able to fix the problems of the world, but I can do something – however small and do it with love, passion and inspiration. I may not, for example, be able to create world peace, but I might be able to effect healing or peace within my family or with a close loved one. Pray not to be overwhelmed by the world (and your work, your job, your situation) but pray to be able to do at least one little thing every day with great love. Together we will, indeed, be able to do something wonderful!
